RENEGADE LOGS ROUNDED UP

Logs that 'lowered the boom' and escaped lawful custody, can be a nuisance to Kelowna's waterfront users.

They are also worth money. So here a tug rounds up the renegade timbers from city park. The tug and crew from S. M. Simpson's sawmill also prowl widely along the lake-

OTTAWA SPENDING

Money And Managing It Causes Furrowed Brows

OTTAWA (CP) — Money and its management occupied the Commons Wednesday as the government tabled spending estimates for 1970-71 totalling $14,812,786,336 and debate focused on Canadian ownership of federally incorporated investment institutions.

Members stood respectfully as the estimates were presented in the name of Governor-General Roland Michener. The traditional gesture of respect, however, gave way to the aggravated concern of Conservative financial critic Marcel Lambert that the possible entry of Quebec into the medical care insurance program later this year will throw out any plan to hold supplementary spending to a minimum.

Mr. Lambert also pointed out that the most recent estimates are double federal expenditures of $6,400,000,000 for 1963-64.

Money again was the subject as Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield led off questioning about the price-restraint agreement reached after two days of negotiating earlier in the week between business leaders and the prices and incomes commission.

EEKS PROPOSALS

Mr. Stanfield asked Corporate Affairs Minister Ron Basford what proposals Ottawa plans to make, as a result of the agreement, to provincial premiers at a federal-provincial conference next week. He also wondered whether the government plans to use "oral sanction" or more punitive means to control price increases.

Ex-Policeman Found Guilty

WHITBY, Ont. (CP) — A 12-man jury Wednesday found Richard Yeowart guilty in the kidnapping of Mary Nelles, rejecting his plea that he had tried to persuade the five other men involved not to carry out the abduction.

The former Metropolitan Toronto policeman, who had pleaded not guilty to the charge, showed little emotion when the verdict was announced and shook hands with each member of the jury as they left the courtroom.

Judge Alex Hall remanded the 25-year-old Yeowart in custody for sentencing Feb. 19 and told the jury they could have come to no other verdict in the face of the evidence.

Yeowart's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Yeowart, were in the courtroom. His girl friend cried: "Oh, no, no" when the verdict was read.

Mrs. Nelles, 26, was kidnapped last Sept. 7 from her nearby Claremont home and released two days later after her husband, Henry Radcliffe Nelles, paid a $200,000 ransom.

Mr. Basford said the agreement was seen as "an extremely useful initiative."

Mr. Lambert attacked the government's investment companies bill during second reading.

He told the Commons he is concerned about a provision which gives to the cabinet final authority over sales of assets by investment companies, as a means to control the sale of Canadian investment firms to foreign interests.

Mr. Lambert was alarmed at the degree of power the bill gives the government.

It was one originally approved by the Senate in the last Parliament but was substantially revised for re-introduction in the new Parliament. Apart from the provision to control sales, there has also been added a measure to permit the Canada Deposit Insurance Corp. to make loans of up to $200,000,000 to investment houses facing serious debt problems.

The bill, in effect, makes the deposit insurance corporation the lender of last resort for investment houses, much as recommended by Mr. Justice Samuel Hughes in his report on the 1965 collapse of the Atlantic Acceptance Corp.

Brenda Mine Union Members 'Ready At Any Time To Talk'

Union members involved in the shutdown last Thursday of Brenda Mines, are prepared to meet with the company management "within an hour's notice."

Gale Spooner, representative spokesman for the Tunnel and Rock Workers, local 168, and the Union of Operating Engineers, local 115 said "time and location are of no particular concern," and considering that the company's last proposals were rejected by the majority of employees involved "we see no alternative but that the company must make some decision toward settlement."

The mine is in its eighth strike-day today, following a strike-vote margin of five ballots reflecting the company's latest offer.

The strike is affecting some 225 workers and is against the recommendation of the negotiating committee.

Half a dozen members from both unions have been picketing the $68,000,000 copper molybdenum complex 15 miles west of Peachland since 4 p.m. Thursday.

Mr. Spooner said main areas of rejection to the mine's latest proposals were wages, transportation to the mine site and length of contract terms.

A statement by mines spokesman Lory Fairfield, that the present strike was a carry-over of a dispute among unions in December, stirred resentment from Tony Belcher, president of the Peachland local of the Steelworkers Union which was defeated in a certification vote at Brenda Mines in December.

In a statement issued Wednesday, Mr. Belcher said the only concern of steelworkers was that "employees receive a fair contract." He pledged his support to the bargaining union and said the memorandum of agreement which was signed by the company and the union was "just an agreement between their representatives, and must always be ratified by membership vote, in accordance with the union constitution."

Mr. Belcher added the company's hopes for a re-vote "simply because a number of employees didn't turn out to vote" was "ridiculous."

Police Vote 'Back To Job'

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — A spokesman for 174 members of the Newfoundland Constabulary, off duty for two days in a dispute with their chief, announced that the men have voted to return to work today.

Constable Tom Fraize, chairman of the constables special committee, announced the end of the walkout after the policemen met to consider an offer from Police Chief Edgar Pittman.

In letters to his men, Chief Pittman said he will reinstate 32 constables suspended in a disciplinary dispute which led to the walkout. The chief said the 32 suspended policemen and all those who walked out in protest will be accepted back for duty with no loss in pay.

Constable Fraize said the men would start reporting for duty at the start of the 4 p.m. shift.

Reinstatement of the 32 men was a condition set out by the striking policemen for their return to duty. It was contained in a letter delivered to Premier Joseph Smallwood, who in turn forwarded it to Chief Pittman.

CHIEF RESIGNED

Chief Pittman resigned earlier in the dispute, but he was to stay on the job until a replacement was found.

LONDON (AP) — The Queen has laryngitis and is confined to her room at Buckingham Palace, a royal spokesman said today.

The Queen, 43, called off an engagement planned for this afternoon. She is due to leave at the end of this month for Canada, where she will join Prince Philip and set out for a royal tour of Australia and New Zealand.

New Oil Threat Grows In N.S.

ARICHAT, N.S. (CP) — The stern section of the Liberian tanker Arrow sank today, taking about 1,000,000 gallons of fuel oil to the bottom of Chedabucto Bay.

The stern, lodged on Cerberus Rock, was to have been towed out beyond the continental shelf and sunk to avoid further oil pollution. However, winds and weather prevented this.

Meanwhile, the bow section of the ship remains on the rock but only its uppermost parts could be seen today. A helicopter survey reported that oil was leaking from the forward section and drifting toward Crichton Island off nearby West Arichat.

Beaches and shorelines in the area already are fouled by escaping oil from the 11,000-ton tanker that grounded eight days ago.

Rough weather Wednesday hampered operations off this Cape Breton Island community. Officials had hoped to resume the work today. They were waiting for a northwest wind in the hope that the stern could be pulled from the rock.

The depth of the water around Cerberus Rock varies from 60 to 100 feet. The seas were rough and there were southwest winds of 25 miles an hour today after an overnight gale.

The stern was leaking oil Wednesday.

Salvage officials went into a hurried session today to decide what should be done to prevent further pollution that might occur if the stern was punctured in its slide off Cerberus rock.

Another Tanker In Trouble

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — The 1,900-ton oil tanker Aime Gaudreau was reported adrift in a gale today in Placentia Bay on the south coast of Newfoundland after a fire in the engine room left the ship without power.

The tanker had unloaded diesel oil and domestic fuel oil along the Newfoundland coast and is now empty except for her own bunker fuel.

A Canadian National coastal freighter, the 1,038-ton Petite Forie, was standing by the stricken tanker.

The Petite Forie's captain reported the two ships were near Marticot Island, on the west side of the bay about 30 miles northeast of Marystown.

The overnight gale slackened today, and the Petite Forie reported southeasterly winds of only 15 miles an hour. However, a heavy swell was running.

Kent Line officials in Saint John, N.B., said the 245-foot tanker had discharged the last of her cargo at Fortune, Nfld., and was en route in ballast to St. John's when the fire broke out.

The owners said that attempts were being made to start the tanker's engines. If these are unsuccessful, the ship will be towed to the nearest port, presumably Marystown where there is a major shipyard.

Slide Smites Resort Again As Vacationers Try To Flee

VAL D'ISERE (Reuters) — Another avalanche swept down a mountainside on to the French disaster village of Val d'Isere today, smashing five chalets.

At least two persons were buried but their fate was unknown. Forty-two persons died in the village two days ago in France's worst avalanche disaster in history.

Vacationers were rushing to pack their bags and quit the area after a road leading down to the next village—Bourg-St.-Maurice—was opened for the first time in two days.

As soon as the reopening of the road was announced at the town hall, a crowd of 300 raced to their hotels to pick up their luggage.

Quarrels broke out over who would use the few taxis available, and people scoured the town for other vehicles to take them down the mountainside.

A blizzard was still sweeping the area this morning, but a drop in temperature froze the snow and reduced the risk of further avalanches, although a snowslide blocked the road out for a while.

Herbert Named Administrator Following Surprise Switch

Kelowna is to have a city-administrator type of government, and present city comptroller D. B. Herbert will head the new administration.

In a surprise switch from earlier recommendations, Mayor Hilbert Roth today announced the "council-administrator" system for Kelowna, the result of an in-depth study of city hall functions by P. S. Ross and Partners, a Vancouver consultant firm.

The consultants recommended a three-commissioner type of administration and this was expected to be put into effect.

"The present members of council have indicated strong support for a management system," Mayor Roth said in a release today, "and for a revision of council's role to that of major direction, overall policy formulation and long-range goals."

Mayor Roth said other staff changes and revisions to the present organization structure will be announced after further study by council.

"This management structure approach by council has been considered in a realistic manner in keeping with the operational demands of a multi-million-dollar corporation as well as the personal and political needs of the taxpayers," he said.

The final report from the consultants will be presented in open council Monday, Mayor Roth said.

Chosen On Unanimous Vote

"This came as a complete surprise to me," said Mr. Herbert. Until recently the city was expecting council to give final approval to the three-commissioner system of government, which would have had three men at the top of the administrative pyramid instead of one.

Mr. Herbert was chosen to head the new administration by a unanimous vote by council, the mayor said.

The 50-year-old city comptroller has been an employee of the city since 1946, when he started as the assistant accountant at a salary of $125 per month. He was promoted in 1948 to the senior accountant's post then took on his present post as comptroller-treasurer and collector in 1952.

Previous to his work with the city, the father of three was an employee of Canadian Pacific Airlines; Boeing Aircraft of Canada; J. Galbraith Ltd. (now E. Winter Ltd.) in Kelowna.

He was born in Vancouver and moved to Kelowna with his family in 1930, where his father owned and operated the Herbert Business College until retirement in 1959.

Port Shutdown Hit Exports

VICTORIA (CP) — The shutdown of British Columbia's ports by longshoremen last fall cut deeply into B.C.'s export trade, figures released Tuesday by the provincial trade department showed.

Exports during October through B.C. ports tumbled to $125,000,000 in 1969 from $185,500,000 in 1968.

Trade picked up in November but still fell $34,000,000 short of the previous November. The drop left trade for the first 11 months of the year nearly $3,000,000 behind 1968.

Nurses Agree On Pay Hike

VANCOUVER (CP) — Nurses at 60 British Columbia hospitals have voted 94 per cent in favor of accepting a new two-year contract providing a 15.3 per cent wage increase and a shorter work week.

Oronsay 'Clear' Of Typhoid Bug

HONOLULU (AP) — The luxury liner Oronsay has left Hawaii for the South Pacific, its captain confident no latent typhoid germs lurk aboard.

The 28,000-ton P. and O. Lines ship had been marooned for three weeks at Vancouver, after an outbreak of typhoid fever among passengers and crew.

Capt. John W. Wachter said Tuesday "was the last possible day any late incubator on the ship could come down with typhoid."

Before the vessel left the Canadian port Feb. 4, medical officials said the chances of a "late-incubator" being aboard were about 8,000 to 1.

... BUT ROOM SERVICE GOOD

B.C. Hospitals 'Run Like Hotels'

A DOCTOR TELLS MLAs

VICTORIA (CP)—Dr. G. Scott Wallace (SC—Oak Bay) said Wednesday British Columbia hospitals are run like "hotels with a very high quality room service" instead of institutions for acutely ill patients.

Speaking in the budget debate, Dr. Wallace told the legislature that he is angered at the sight of patients who can walk, sitting beside beds built for acutely ill patients, "being dutifully served their meals by highly paid staff and sometimes by registered nurses."

Instead of building an undetermined number of new acute beds at costs of approximately $40,000 each, he said, the government should provide more post-acute beds at one-third that cost.

"In all our general hospitals today we need a ward of post-acute beds, which can be constructed more cheaply and rapidly, in close proximity to the acute beds so that the small number of cases who develop complications can be transferred rapidly back to acute beds," he said.

REDUCE COSTS

In the post-acute ward there would be a cafeteria where the patient would serve himself. This is a practice which both enhances his progress by letting him realize that he is truly on the mend and also reduces labor costs which otherwise prevail when staff carry food trays to the bedside."

Dr. Wallace also said the "time is long overdue" for the government to realize that provision of post-acute beds in "substantial numbers" would greatly increase the turnover in acute beds, "with a consequent rapid reduction of the long waiting lists."

Education Minister Donald Brothers said B.C.'s regional colleges and vocational schools will begin to combine operations next year.

KELOWNA INCLUDED

The minister said one of the main reasons for the move, which becomes effective April 1, 1971, is "economy and efficiency." Vocational schools and colleges in Nanaimo, Prince George, Kelowna, Nelson, Castle Gar and Kamloops, where a college is expected to be completed this year, are included.

SURVIVAL COURSE

Robert Wenman (SC—Delta) suggested that a survival course in a northern wilderness camp might be a better place for drug offenders than a traditional jail.

Such an experience would give the offender's survival instincts an injection of practicality. "This drug dropout minority, who all too often claim they would reject and destroy the structures of our society and talk long and loud of the new society they would build, stay too long and too close to these same structured sources of food, shelter, liquor and drugs in a most hypocritical and self-defeating fashion," he said.

Eileen Dally (NDP—Burnaby North) called upon the government to abolish the referendum requirement from the province's school finance formula.

VARIED NEEDS

Mrs. Dally said there is "a great variety of needs" among school districts in the province which the B.C. finance formula cannot accommodate.

"The referendum vote for school operating funds is wrong in principle, and impractical in operation," she said. "The effect on orderly operation of the school system is disastrous."

"Denied stable, reliable tax revenues, boards are unable to budget with confidence and consistency and continuity of their programs is destroyed."

Willis Jefcoat (SC—Shuswap) told the house he does not want the pulp mill that is rumored for his riding.

Mr. Jefcoat said a pulp mill would be bad for the tourist industry. "There has been talk of building a mill on the Shuswap River, but there isn't enough water flow," he said.

"We must keep the water clear and pure to protect the tourists as well as our own people."

Quebec Conducts Inquiry Into B.C. Man's Beating

Justice Minister Remi Paul says the Quebec Provincial Police are conducting an investigation into the beating by plainclothes police of a British Columbia civil servant Feb. 1. Walter Robert Redel, 48, director of the lands branch of the B.C. lands and forests department, was beaten unconscious here and held in jail for nearly four hours by police who mistook him for a bank robbery suspect as he strolled along a Lower Town street. He was in Quebec City attending a conference of the Canadian Council of Resource Ministers.

J.J. BERTRAND ... remove bawls

Premier Jean-Jacques Bertrand said in Quebec Wednesday the opening of a new legislative session Feb. 24 will be marked by "disappearance of certain obsolete customs." He did not specify, but there is speculation the changes will involve the speech from the throne, known in the national assembly of Quebec as the inaugural speech.

Yukon commissioner James Smith suggested in Victoria the establishment of a new economic union in the Canadian north-west. Such a union should consist of northern British Columbia, northern Alberta, the Yukon and part of the Northwest Territories and should be formed to facilitate development of that area. Mr. Smith told a Chamber of Commerce meeting. He said development planning should not be restricted by current boundaries, "which are merely imaginary lines drawn by man."

Richard Wettersten, Minnesota game fish director, has recommended that "areas of solitude" be established in Minnesota that would be off limits to snowmobiles. He said in Duluth the machines can go anywhere in snow and some people say they can't find any untracked snow. "There is no wilderness anymore," he said.

The mayor of Squamish Wednesday called for legislation to enable district municipalities to evaluate the environmental effects of industrial plants before they are allowed to establish in the area. Mayor Pat Brennan criticized what he termed "the absolute lack" of such municipal legislation which, he said, would enable communities like Squamish to decide whether industries such as pulp mills, chemical plants and mining operations are harming the citizens and if they are operating in a safe and controlled manner.

Social Credit MLA Herb Capozzi says in Victoria suggestions that he is seeking leadership of the party when Premier W. A. Bennett retires are ludicrous. "I have not thought of that at this stage at all," Mr. Capozzi said.

Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America, announced Wednesday in Vancouver the IWA coast negotiating committee has advised Forest Industrial Relations Ltd. that it would like to open negotiations for renewal of the Coast Master Agreement on Feb. 16.

Kierans Agrees To Inquiry On Montreal Mail Slowdown

MONTREAL (CP) — Communications Minister Eric Kierans agreed Wednesday night to a government inquiry requested by a truck drivers union involved in a 12-day mail slowdown in Montreal.

But Mr. Kierans added that the inquiry into Rod Services Ltd. which held the exclusive mail delivery contract for 35 Montreal sub-stations until a year ago and G. Lapalme Inc., Rod's successor, would have to await the union's specific suggestions as to the inquiry's mandate.

Raymond Parent, Conference of National Trade Union's representative of 450 Lapalme drivers on partial strike since Feb. 3, said the union's letter "is as good as in the mail."

Earlier Wednesday, Mr. Parent had called for the inquiry "to clear up this scandalous dispute."

Since Monday, one driver who was still working has been injured and 11 trucks damaged as men have smashed truck windows and intimidated drivers.

The drivers, who have stayed away from work slowing delivery of mail through the city, are protesting possible layoffs March 31 when five other companies take over the delivery contract from Lapalme.

Mr. Kierans has said Lapalme drivers will be given priority over other applicants for available jobs but came under fire from both the union and the company Wednesday.

Holding him responsible for

ERIC KIERANS ... mail trouble

the breakdown in service, the union accused the minister of "lying to the public."

And Pierre Breton, general manager of Lapalme, supported union claims that the post office is the real employer of the drivers and said Mr. Kierans has not presented all the facts surrounding the case.

"It is true that the post office had control of the thing from the beginning," he said.

The company pays its drivers "$3.25 an hour plus benefits which is a lot higher than any other company," he explained, saying pay could hardly be reduced under the new contract.

Coast Newspaper Unions Silent On Slowdown Ban

VANCOUVER (CP) — Officials of three mechanical unions employed at Pacific Press Ltd. would not comment Wednesday on British Columbia Supreme Court orders to end a slowdown in production of The Sun and The Province newspapers.

But just hours after the injunction was handed down, members of one of them—the mailers—unanimously approved strike action.

Mailers' union president John Letson said no decision has been made on giving 72-hour strike notice and he hopes negotiations with the company will resume following the mailers' vote.

Pressmen and typographers were holding strike votes today. The company sought injunction against the mailers', pressmen's and typographical unions was granted by Mr. Justice Alan Macfarlane following three days of argument.

The company said a deliberate slowdown by the unions caused serious production breaks since last Thursday, costing the company up to $100,000 a day in lost revenue. Wednesday, The Sun printed only 62,000 copies of a normal 260,000 press run. Thousands of Sun subscribers have gone without their papers for five days.

The Province has managed to complete its press run most days, but the runs have been several hours late, disrupting home deliveries in many areas. The mailers union was the second to approve strike action against Pacific Press, which produces the morning Province and the evening Sun.

The Vancouver-New Westminster Newspaper Guild approved similar action last November, but again did not serve strike notice.

The four unions, together with the stereotypers, have been involved in a contract dispute with Pacific Press since contracts expired last Oct. 1. About 1,100 employees are represented by the five unions.

Negotiators have reached tentative agreement on wages but such issues as pensions, night differential, vacations and terms of contract have not been resolved.

TODAY'S STOCK QUOTATIONS

TORONTO (CP) — Prices on the Toronto stock market declined fractionally in light morning trading today as a rally that began late Wednesday petered out.

The rally was touched off by strength on Wall Street which began on rumors of a possible bank rate reduction. However, most major banks in New York quickly denied such rumors.

The industrial index was down .20 to 178.12 today and western oils .68 to 202.32. Gains came .46 to 151.93 and base metals .28 to 112.46.

Volume by 11 a.m. was 508,000 shares compared with 522,000 at the same time Wednesday.

Inter-City Gas, at 14 1/4 bid and 14 1/2 asked, did not trade. The company will seek shareholders' approval of a 2-for-1 stock split.

Chrysler traded an odd lot of 85 shares at 29 1/4. The stock rose 1/2 Wednesday although the company announced it had cut its quarterly dividend to 15 cents from 50 cents.

BEAVER BUSY BREAKING BOUGHS

One of Canada's best known symbols, the beaver, is not often seen in this area, but they are around. Although most often seen on the bank of a five cent piece, the carpentry in this picture is the work of a real-live beaver. The tree was felled and grooved on the west side of Okanagan Lake due west of Knox Mountain, late last month. The pair of glasses on the tree indicate the size of the beaver's chop efforts. (Norman Horspool photo)

TIME WASTED

Youthful Glance Into Legislature

Through the unclouded eyes of youth, politics often takes on new perspectives but for three Immaculata High School students who attended the budget speech in Victoria last week there was a "lot of the same old stuff."

Victor Ehman, Donald Schneider and Mary Sullivan spent two hours in the house soaking up details of the 1970 budget, the highest in B.C.'s history.

"I found about Premier Bennett that it seems he can manipulate figures so no one can understand what he is talking about, at least I sure didn't," said Mr. Ehman, president of the Immaculata student council.

Although indoctrinated with the traditions of parliamentary procedure during six hours touring museums and receiving instructions in procedure the students gave pomp and ceremony short shrift.

"A lot of the procedure seems to slow down sometimes—when the speaker would have to leave the chair and the chairman of a committee takes over and then says the same things again," Mr. Schneider said.

"All the tradition with the sergeant-at-arms and the mace bogs things down."

The students felt that in a legislature where the time element often drives legislation into grueling late-night sessions, fewer hours could be devoted to ceremony.

None were willing to do away with or trim time devoted to debate, even in a house where the powerful Social Credit majority dominates legislation.

"You have to have an opposition and debate to keep everyone thinking and exchanging ideas," Miss Sullivan said.

DOWN TO EARTH

Once debate is through it is the duty of the media to report it and it was common opinion among the trio of observers that a more down to earth look at sessions was needed.

"In a lot of affairs I believe they should worry not so much about the sensationalism but publish more of the 'boring' which is straight, factual and pertinent," Mr. Ehman said.

Televised debate was also approved.

Resident Found Recorders Then Helped Catch Thief

A Naramata youth who went on a spree of thefts from cars in a custody today waiting sentencing on a conviction of theft of more than $50.

Robert M. McGahuey was arrested today after police received a call today from a resident who found three tape recorders and 18 tapes in his car port. He watched the youth and two juveniles remove the articles, followed them, then phoned police. The RCMP later arrested McGahuey in a car.

He admitted to police to taking the tapes from three cars.

The youth was remanded to Feb. 20 for a pre-sentence report.

A plea of guilty was changed to not guilty by judge D. M. White in the case of Roger E. Paul, Kelowna, charged with driving an improperly equipped motor cycle. Paul pleaded guilty then said RCMP did not check his mufflers for baffles or measure the height of his handlebars, the causes of the charge.

Judge White took a plea of not guilty and remanded the case to Feb. 25.

During their trip the students met and talked for 15 minutes with Premier Bennett, who sponsored their trip and luncheon with Mines Minister F. X. Richter.

NO CHANCE

They did not, however, get an opportunity to talk with elected officials about the most vital topic to Immaculata students and administration—recognition of independent schools.

Mr. Ehman, Mr. Schneider and Miss Sullivan were the first Immaculata students to be sponsored on a trip to the legislature, although public school students are often taken by MLAs.

They were accompanied on their trip by Rev. Francis Goddard, principal of Immaculata, who prefaced the reading of the budget speech with a prayer of invocation.

SEEN and HEARD

A Kelowna motorist was completely stunned Wednesday when he found himself trapped in the chain to let himself out, erecting the barricade again. City workmen had apparently removed the barrier temporarily to work at the reservoir, then locked up behind them for the night.

Several years ago a survey of truck drivers indicated the worst car driver fault was failure to signal for turns and lane changes. Although this is still a serious motorist fault, there is another bad habit becoming increasingly obvious in Kelowna and district. Too many drivers are entering a street and forcing other motorists to brake. If a car, or line of cars is coming toward you, don't start out into the street and force someone to brake. If you want to get out ahead of him be sure you can accelerate to the speed limit quickly and safely, so you won't have someone cursing you from behind.

Army Hears Of Sea Life

The life and role of the sea cadet as one of Canada's service branches was the topic of an address by Capt. William Johnson, commanding officer of the local Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corp. Grenville at the 903 British Columbia Dragoon "Cadets Parade" night Tuesday at Kelowna Armories.

BCD cadets are currently preparing for a weekend field and range exercise. The 65-member squad, headed by Capt. Edward Dickins, will participate in field exercises Saturday prior to shooting practice at Sportsman's Field Sunday. The range exercise is to qualify cadets on different cross-Canada shooting competitions.

Noise-pollution is the latest type and a lot of it is to do with the highly amplified and many-decibled music of the age. Perhaps a symptom of this would be two signs on Ellis Street, one for a record store and right beside one for a hearing-aid firm.

Courier subscribers on a route in Rutland were surprised and amused this week when their delivery boy showed up on horseback. As one woman put it: "You get so used to seeing paper boys on bicycles that it was strange to see him come riding up on a horse."

Physical fitness and jogging may be great, but in full gym strip in this weather? A group of secondary school students were seen jogging along leisurely through the downtown area today, complete with tee shirts, shorts and running shoes. When you're dressed like that you have to run simply to stay warm.

Not Guilty Says Judge

Two Kelowna youths were found not guilty this week when they appeared for decision on a charge of indecent assault.

Lloyd Thomas Jessop and John Fletcher Gowland were originally charged with rape in September but the charge was later reduced at a preliminary hearing.

Judge A. D. C. Washington found the pair not guilty after a three-day trial.

VALLEY FACTS

More than 40,000 people in a 15-mile radius of Kelowna are served by the city's businesses, which have an annual retail sales figure exceeding $32 million.

Pollution Topic Today

Students at Dr. Knox Secondary School will get a graphic peek at pollution, the problems and the answers in a multi-media presentation today by two Simon Fraser University experts.

Headed by Dr. Glen Geon, head of the university's biological sciences department, and Dr. Milton McLaren, co-chairman of the university's science and education department, the film lecture will be followed by student participation. Scheduled to begin at 8 a.m., the presentation was repeated at 1:30 p.m., at Okanagan College, and is slated for Kelowna Secondary School at 8 p.m., as part of School District 23's adult education and recreation program.

W. G. Povey Rites Friday

Funeral services will be held from Day's Chapel of Remembrance Friday at 2:30 p.m. for William George Povey, 68, of Kelowna, who died Tuesday.

Surviving members of the family include his wife, Gladys, one son, William of Lehigh, Alta., three daughters, Mrs. H. (Alma) Hill of Penticton, Mrs. W. (Wynetta) Dunlop of Winnipeg, and Mrs. Bert (Lois) Smith of Kelowna. He is also survived by two brothers, Maurice and Edgar, both of Nanaimo, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. R. E. F. Berry, with interment in Kelowna cemetery.

Good Luck... For Tomorrow

Hi, I'm Superstition Incarnate. I'm around all year long hovering just out of consciousness and getting occasional bursts of attention when somebody walks under a ladder or allows a black cat to cross his path.

A few times a year I'm the centre of interest and my usual faded influence blossoms full-grown. You know when that is—tomorrow, Friday the 13th.

That is my big day—and that's something in this highly scientific world where nobody believes in ghosts or leaves garlic on the windowsill to frighten vampires.

Even Halloween is shot; too commercial and no real belief in me.

But Friday the 13th, oh wonderful day—even the most crystalized pragmatist at least thinks about bad luck and if you got around as much as I do you would realize a lot of people still believe.

This Friday the 13th is the first one in February since 1959 and there won't be another February one until 1976.

This year is also special because there are two Friday the 13ths in a row. Just as soon as you get rid of this one another hits you in March.

In fact 1970 is sort of a "bumper" year, because there is another in November which is certainly an improvement over 1969 when there was only one. A lot of people were beginning to forget I existed in 1969.

If you do take notice of me then it's not your fault because the belief is as old as your race. Many Christians date Friday as an unlucky day from the crucifixion and 13, because it is an unusual number, is just naturally unlucky.

Long before there were high religions (Christianity, Islam) I was around, however, and every society has taboo days and taboo numbers. They just call them by different names.

In this day and age my favorite people are sufferers of triakadekaphobia (acute fear of Friday the 13th) who spend the day in bed and won't budge.

That's an old belief too; many races thought normal activity on a taboo day would lead to ill luck or at best cancel out any benefits of a "special day."

Not you?

Remember a person doesn't have to stay in bed or keep a silver bullet in their fowl piece to be superstitious.

When was the last time you wished someone "good luck" as a farewell?

Do you light a cigarette on a third match; walk under a ladder; spill salt or break a mirror without at least a little twinge of regret?

Do you ever say: "knock on wood" when someone mentions the unmentionable?

DISASTER

The unbeliever might be interested in knowing that on Dec. 13, 1941, the greatest recorded landslide disaster in history struck in Huaras, Peru, killing more than 5,000 people.

Legend has it the Black Plague which swept Europe in the Middle Ages broke out first on a Friday.

More up-to-date proof of my existence is the land-office business which any jewellery store does in lucky charms—and the next time you see an amputee rabbit ask him why his foot was taken.

"Hey, look everybody, I found a four-leaf clover," is a cry heard on picnics and in playgrounds.

But its not so bad, because as long as superstition is around bad luck is something to blame mistakes on.

So whatever your opinion, for all of Friday—Good Luck.

Further information is available at 2-8653 or 5-5727.

Most Roads Bare, Dry Some With Icy Sections

Typical of most local roads and highways today, Highway 97 is mostly bare and dry, with some black icy sections sanded. Single lane traffic prevails at Monte Lake due to road construction proceedings. Watch for deer at night at Summerland to Westbank.

Highway 33 is bare at lower levels, with some compact snow at higher elevations. Sanded. Winter tires or carry chains suggested.

Fraser Canyon is mostly bare, with some fog patches and slippery sections, sanded. Single lane traffic at Silver Creek west of Hope; watch for falling rock. Winter tires or carry chains recommended.

Cheche Creek to Revelstoke is bare and good, with some black ice, sanded. Winter tires. Kamloops to Revelstoke is mostly bare, with some wet and slippery sections, black ice.

Lady, Dog Here Today

Lady With a Dog, a Russian film made in 1960, will be presented today at 7:30 p.m. in the board room of the Okanagan Regional Library, by the Kelowna Film Society.

Based on a story by the Russian author Anton Chekhov, this is a love story set at the time of the Russian Czars.

March 4, The Cabinet of Dr. Kaligari will be presented and March 12, Repulsion.

Kin Week Here Soon

Monday marks the first day of Kin Week and in the eyes of local Kinsmen an unparalleled opportunity to communicate with the public.

Kelowna Kinsmen have pledged to devote much of the activity-filled week, which marks the 50th anniversary of the club, to tell the story of Kin to the public.

Included in the information campaign are television and radio announcements, sanded. Single lane traffic at Silver Creek west of Hope; watch for falling rock. Winter tires or carry chains recommended.

Cheche Creek to Revelstoke is bare and good, with some black ice, sanded. Winter tires. Kamloops to Revelstoke is mostly bare, with some wet and slippery sections, black ice.

Eliminate Odor Win $250,000

Pat Jordan, minister without portfolio and MLA for North Okanagan, today praised the announcement made by Ray Williston, minister of lands and forests, and water resources that the provincial government will award $250,000 for effective decrease and elimination of odors of kraft pulp mills.

She said at present, no totally effective way to eliminate the kraft mill odor is known, "short of shutting down the plant."

Mrs. Jordan said some utilization of waste wood by conversion to pulp has become the major factor in the economic life of many British Columbia communities.

"It is essential an answer to odor emission from these mills be found," she continued, adding the device method, receiving the award must be capable of productive and economic application under actual working conditions.

COMPETITION

Mrs. Jordan was referring to a world-wide competition announced by Mr. Williston and Premier W. A. C. Bennett, offering a $250,000 prize for the first person inventing effective air pollution control equipment for kraft pulp mills. Mr. Williston said the money would go to "any firm or individual capable of producing equipment which is economically feasible, practical for the industry as a whole, and which can be made the basis for an order by the pollution control board."

He said the water pollution problem has been solved at the province's 14 kraft pulp mills, but nothing very effective had been done to curb the highly objectionable odor from such mills.

The person or firm that came up with the odor eliminating equipment would be expected to make plans available to all B.C. mills, but would be free to sell the plans anywhere else, Mr. Bennett said. He added "If young scientists around the world get working on it, one of them is bound to come up with a solution."

POLICY DECISION

"In an effort to insure quality environment," Mrs. Jordan said, "it is of major importance that we do not stifle our economy which is often the means of providing the necessary dollars to carry out our environmental program."

She added, "this type of policy decision is an essential part of our drive for a quality environment."

Mrs. Jordan expressed pleasure too, with the announcement by Mr. Williston, that the federal minister, Joe Greene, had stated the federal government will bring in a pilot bill on phosphate control in Canada. She said the provincial government had asked the bill be brought in before now, but the federal government had given assurances the bill "will be passed before March 15."

In this way, the statement continued, "the provincial government will be in a position to introduce legislation regarding the use of phosphates in British Columbia at this session of the legislature."

UNIFORMITY

What the legislation was saying, in effect, was that consumers across Canada will be assured of a uniformity in phosphate standards, and that "British Columbia consumers will benefit because many products containing phosphates are not made in British Columbia."

In another area of pollution control, Mrs. Jordan said the federal government had also been requested to enact an umbrella-type legislation regarding exhaust fumes of automobiles, and hoped federal legislation would be enacted "as quickly as possible."

She added if British Columbia brought in its own legislation, it would "create many problems for travellers and tourists" since standards would not be uniform across Canada. "Federal legislation must come first," the statement concluded.

Relative to pulp mill air pollution, Mr. Williston was remaining silent on the exact location of a proposed mill in North Okanagan, but expressed the view that it "might be a good thing," although he wanted to avoid becoming publicly involved in the pulp mill "turmoil" saying such a mill would be a "boon" to the area from the standpoint of economic and resource utilization.

If located in the Okanagan, a pulp mill would have to be away from major population centres he added.

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

Penticton Mayor F. D. Stuart, was recently quoted as saying the pulp mill in Kamloops had won an award for being "one of the cleanest on the continent," but still "not good enough" for the Okanagan.

Following increasing objection to location of a pulp mill in the Okanagan, a recently formed organization called the Okanagan section of the Sierra Club of British Columbia, claims the proposed mill will "destroy" the Valley. A meeting to organize the society and gain public support will be held in Penticton

Monday. A pre-organization bulletin from the society stated: "One major threat to the Okanagan is the possible establishment of a pulp mill in the North Okanagan." Major objections cited by the society included destruction of the tourist trade and damage to the fruit crop by preventing apples from ripening and reddening. Distribution of pulp mill fumes would also be a "catastrophe" for residential living, the society claimed.

MEETING DUE

Meanwhile, a meeting between officials of Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd., and North Okanagan representatives has been scheduled. Frank Linke, secretary of the North Enderby Residents Association said he had received assurances from R. M. Boyle, executive vice-president of Crown Zellerbach, that a group of company executives would be sent to the area. Mr. Linke did not, however, get any firm commitment from the company regarding intentions in the North Okanagan.

A letter to Kelowna city council from Mr. Williston said he had no concrete plans for a pulp mill on his desk, and that "all factors" would be carefully studied if a pulp mill were to go ahead. Mayor Hilbert Roth earlier spoke strongly against a pulp mill in the Okanagan. In his letter, Mr. Williston stated: "I can only advise at this time I have received no proposals or studies concerning this particular matter" and added he felt that "possibly the North Okanagan is only a part of a much larger area being studied for a potential pulp mill location."

POWERLESS

On the phosphate question, resources minister, J. J. Greene conceded Tuesday that the federal government is "powerless" at present to enforce a ban on progressive reduction of phosphates in laundry detergents. He also told the Commons resources committee that doubts exist about the federal government's power to achieve such regulation through amendment to the Criminal Code. Mr. Greene said he personally believes the federal government can make it a crime to put phosphates in detergents, although there was a "risk" that courts would uphold a challenge to this on constitutional grounds. He later told reporters that by the end of this week he will have discussed with every province whether constitutional action should be taken, or whether the provinces would back up federal phosphate controls with provincial legislation.

Horror Films In City Relate Pollution Story

Dr. Knox Secondary School students were shown horror films today.

They were shown the films by Dr. G. H. Geon, head of the biological sciences department of Simon Fraser University and Dr. Milton McLaren, co-chairman, science and education.

The films dealt with pollution and presented without dramatics were more horrible than all the Frankenstein and Draculas ever released to a movie theatre.

"We are trying not to be alarmists," Dr. McLaren said, "it's easy to be a doomsday prophet but we consider pollution a very serious problem."

The films, originally produced for use in Simon Fraser, are three 16 mm reels depicting pollution problems in the province. They are called "Ugh".

Hydrogen sulphide, the substance which causes the stink, is toxic in high concentrations. Temperature inversion, trapping carbon monoxide fumes from automobiles, has caused severe problems in crisis areas such as Los Angeles and Tokyo.

"In Tokyo now you can buy oxygen on streetcars and all traffic policemen carry oxygen with them to take oxygen-breaths," Dr. McLaren said.

Questions on DDT revealed a number of "fairly well-informed students" he said.

HIGHER CONTENT

"You have a higher concentration of DDT in your bodies than people in other areas because you were raised in an agricultural society," he told the students.

Dr. McLaren outlined some effects of DDT, including the near extinction of bald eagles and other predatory birds. Once taken into an animal's system DDT accumulates in the fat and will remain there for "20 or 30 years."

He admitted some factions argued DDT is not poisonous.

"One faculty member has eaten DDT out of jars and says he must have a count of 1,000 parts per million and uses this as an argument against the DDT alarmists," Dr. McLaren said.

When asked by a student if the man had suffered any ill effects he said: "No but he's quite a young man—and might not get much older."

Dr. McLaren said there is not enough pollution research being done and not enough known about the effects of pollution or what to do about it.

J. R. Tait Speaks Soon

The monthly meeting of the board of directors of the Kelowna and District Society for Retarded Children was held Wednesday.

The annual general meeting, to be held Feb. 18 at 8 p.m. in St. Joseph's Hall was discussed. The guest speaker will be J. R. Tait, provincial executive representative of the Association for the Retarded Children of British Columbia.

A membership drive will be held at the meeting; annual fees are $1 per person.

Mrs. William D. Whelen, parents' representative, announced the Sunnyside Parents' Association plans to have a flower or hope campaign, planned for April. This is a fund drive to support retarded children.

Mrs. Glen Wood, Mrs. Robert Clark and Mrs. Barla Anthony plan to attend a seminar on the retarded in the community to be held in Vancouver this weekend.

City Quiet Say Police

The city continues to remain quiet, RCMP report today, with only several minor incidents to investigate overnight.

An Okanagan Mission resident reported an obscene phone call, which police are investigating.

An unknown passenger in a car driven by a G. Campos, Kelowna, suffered minor injuries when the driver failed to negotiate a curve on Highway 97 near the Kelowna Airport. Damage was estimated at $3,000; the driver was not hurt.

LOUDLY with extensive fog in the main valleys is predicted today and Friday, but mainly sunny at higher levels. Temperatures should remain mild with light winds. High and low Wednesday was 36 and 32, with no precipitation. Low to night and high Friday should be 30 and 28.

HITHER and YON

In between watching curling games, luncheons, meetings, tours and banquets, Mrs. Heide Engren of Whitehorse visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Jansen of Rutland. Mrs. Engren is zone convener for the Yukon district of the British Columbia Ladies' Curling Association.

Many Kelowna residents entertained various members of the six ladies' curling rinks competing in the BCLCA provincial finals here. Informal coffee parties and midnight snacks were sandwiched in between the busy schedule of planned events. One of these was Mrs. Norman Keglavic of Abbott Street, who entertained the members of the Whitehorse rink at her home. Mrs. Keglavic, a former Yukoner, not only entertained the visitors, but spent a good deal of time at the rink, cheering for her favorites.

Among the guests at the Victory banquet Tuesday night at Capri were Mrs. R. J. Bennett and Mrs. Russell Ensign, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. A. S. Underhill. Mrs. Underhill, retiring from the office of president of the British Columbia Ladies' Curling Association, was honored with bouquets, both verbal and floral and having her daughters present, added to her pleasure.

Staff members of Valley Builders Ltd., their wives and friends are looking forward to a 'real

Mrs. Charles Ross Heads E. Kelowna Hall Auxiliary

The annual meeting of the East Kelowna Women's Auxiliary to the hall board which was held last week, elected the following officers: president, Mrs. Charles Ross; vice-president, Mrs. Ivy Fairweather and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Edward Holtzki.

Plans were completed for the card party on Saturday night at the hall, which includes whist and bridge. The evening program starting at 8 p.m. includes prizes and lunch.

Further discussion included the upcoming annual spring frolic on April 11 and the annual tea and plant sale sometime in April. The plant sale under the convener'ship of Mrs. Ross and Mrs. Fairweather is a popular event with gardeners in this area, as many sturdy plants and slips are donated from the fine gardens and grounds in East Kelowna district.

Dolls Traded For Test-Tubes

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — While friends played house with dolls, Jane Blizard at the age of eight tinkered with chemicals in a laboratory her paint salesman father rigged up in the basement of the family home.

That was more than 35 years ago in Rochester, N.Y. Today, Jane Blizard is Dr. Jane Blizard, PhD in physics, University of Denver expert in solar astronomy who is probing mysteries of the sun. She seeks a way to predict the sun's violent eruptions that shoot deadly radiation into space and black out radio communications.

The woman physicist recently published scientific papers that suggest the eruptions, called solar flares, are caused by movement of the planets about the sun.

ANN LANDERS

Hitch-Hiking Female Dumb But Lucky

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has been told a dozen times never to ride with strangers but I paid no attention. I was sure those terrible things I read about in the papers always happen to someone else. It was 11:00 o'clock at night, and getting cold. I decided to save the bus fare and hitch a ride. I got into the first car that stopped — a blue sedan. A middle-aged man was driving. Within two minutes I knew I had made a big mistake. The man looked as if he'd been drinking. He asked me some crazy questions. Suddenly he turned into a side street then onto a dirt road.

I thought of jumping out, but the doors were locked and he was driving pretty fast. Suddenly, he stopped behind a clump of trees, dragged me out of the car and tried to rape me. I managed to get free and ran for my life. He chased me and I fell. Before I could get up, he literally pulled me up by the hair and began to beat me to "make me behave." I got loose and started to run again — this time into a barbed-wire fence. Somehow I crawled through a hole in the fence and hid behind a clump of bushes. He lost sight of me so I kept my head down and remained still. I must have lain there for 20 minutes when I heard his car drive off.

I then began to walk home. It was the longest walk of my life. I had hurt my knee and my head was bleeding where he hit me. I stopped at the first house I saw and called the police. They came and got me and drove me home. I'm still recovering from sprains and bruises, but I'm lucky to be alive.

If my letter can save just one girl from going through what I experienced, it will be worth the effort it took to write it. —DUMB AND LUCKY

Dear D and L: Congratulations — on being alive, that is.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet you've had a zillion letters from people who are furious with Los Angeles Bub — the man who wrote to say he doesn't dislike cats — it was children he hates. Bub went on to say he is sick of our child-centered society — that most parents are scared to death of their kids.

Thirteen squares of dancers joined the Kelowna Wagon Wheelers Saturday night in the Windfield Community Hall, to dance to the calling of Ray Fredrickson. Ray filled in for Ken McCormick who was unable to make the trip from Cour d'Alene. In Pentiction the Peach City Promenaders held their party Saturday night in the Legion Hall, with Walter Mallach as caller.

VALENTINE PARTIES
Feb. 14, we have two party nights in the valley. The Westsyde Squares will host their party in the Westbank Community Hall.

BOOST ECONOMY
EDMONTON (CP) — Visitors to Edmonton put $74,500,000 into the economy in 1969, the industrial development department says. This was spent on food, hotels, motels, entertainment and miscellaneous expenses.

with Chuck Inglis as caller. In Pentiction the same evening the "Saints" will host their party in the IOOF Hall, with Ray Fredrickson as caller.

Looking ahead to Feb. 21, the Wheel-N-Stars will host their party in the Legion Hall with Bob Wright of Seattle as caller. The same evening the Twirlers will host their party in the Windfield Community Hall, with Walter Mallach as caller.

OCTA MEET
A meeting of the Okanagan Callers-Teachers' Association was held in the Summerland Youth Centre Hall, on Jan. 25, with 14 members present. Points brought up, included the suggestion that a real effort should be made to keep the new dancers involved. A wind-up dance was planned for June 27. Clubs in the south end of the valley to host this event.

Also to start the season off with a bang in the fall—a kick-off dance was scheduled for the second Saturday in September with the clubs in the north hosting this. It was suggested that a reshuffling of dates for catering to the workshop be arranged to stage the meeting between the north and the south.

A WORD ABOUT TIMING
When working with brand new dancers, don't forget to take into account the fact that the dancers are not accustomed to reacting automatically. Therefore they will take longer to do each movement. Timing, remember, refers to the number of beats it takes to do a movement comfortably. With a newcomer, this will be the maximum number of beats.

A good knowledge of correct timing is just as important when working with beginners as it is with the more advanced dancer. A caller should tighten up a bit on the beats in which he allows an experienced dancer to do a particular movement. He will be just as careful in allowing more than the customary amount of time with a newcomer.

As you work with newcomers, you will realize an amazing thing. If you allow them to, the new dancers will just naturally move to the beat of the music. There are exceptions of course, but not knowing what is expected of them, most of them will start to move naturally on the first beat of a new phrase. Because of this it is doubly important for a caller not only to use good, well-phrased music at a one-night stand but to play the music sufficiently loud so the dancer is able to move to it readily.

ON DISPLAY
HALIFAX (CP) — A 200-year-old self-portrait of the American painter Benjamin West is being exhibited in the Nova Scotia College of Art and Design here. The painting was presented to the Halifax Club by Lord Beaverbrook in the 1950s. An expatriate American, West became president of the Royal Academy in London. When he died in 1820 at the age of 82, he was buried in Westminster Abbey next to his friend, Sir Joshua Reynolds.

Complexion Cues For Teens To Keep Young And Beautiful

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

A girl is at her radiant best during the teen years. She's young and should have everything going for her. But, alas, the teen years have beauty problems. Because sebaceous glands are overactive, blemishes often come along to mar the fresh face of beauty.

What to do about it? Follow these tips:

● Diet Don't: Avoid foods that can cause complexion breakouts. In this category: excess sugars, starches, fats, fried foods, chocolate.

It's not easy to be noble when all around you are digging into the french fries, lapping up sundaes, enjoying soft drinks. Do it by postponing temptations for an hour, then another. Keep putting them off, promising yourself that eventually you'll have some. When you finally break down and eat a forbidden food, you can congratulate yourself on all the chain-stuffing you've avoided.

● Cleanliness Counts: Dressing like a thrift-shop refugee may be your thing, but it's one thing. Keeping your face super-clean is something else again. Since the effect of soap is sometimes harsh on tender skin, try a famous fluffy white medicated cream that comes in a blue jar. Try it three times a day. Massage it in! The skin, especially acne-affected areas. Rinse off with luke-warm water and, this is important, pat your face dry with an absolutely clean, thick turkish towel! No-body's mother minds extra laundry when the result is going to be a fresher, happier face.

● Camouflage: Use a flesh-tinted cream to cover blemishes—and to help heal them even as it supplies camouflage.

Next, apply a light application of medicated pressed powder. Cover girls call it a clean makeup because it stays on clean and has a plus—its astringent action that wards off bacteria. Smooth it all over your face and under your chin.

Next, apply medicated brush-on blush—at your temples to make eyes seem brighter, on the tip of a long nose to shorten it, under the tip of a sky-turned nose.

Finish makeup with sheer gloss lipstick over a fresh shade, such as Pink Frost.

● No-No's: Remember that the watchwords for a troubled complexion are: Hand's Off! Don't pick at blemishes. Don't finger your face. This latter is a nervous habit that can add to complexion woes, especially if hands are less than spotlessly clean.

And never use a soiled powder puff. Instead, apply powder with clean cotton squares.

FLESH-TINTED cover-up cream provides camouflage for blemishes and is medicated in special way to help heal them.

"Oh, aren't I supposed to signal for a left turn?"

INJURIES AVOIDABLE

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's 72,342 false alarms last year caused many of the 4,283 injuries to its firemen, a union official has announced. Lieut. John E. Kelly, president of the Uniformed Fire Officers Association, said that "many of these injuries would never have occurred if there hadn't been such a shocking increase in false alarms."

IF OILMEN OUSTED

Arabs Would Hurt Most

BEIRUT (AP) — The Arabs should kick out American oil companies unless the United States stops helping Israel, five Arab countries said at their summit conference in Cairo. But nobody knows better than the Arabs that they would be hurt most.

The communiqué issued by Egypt, Syria, Jordan, Iraq and Sudan after their meeting during the weekend declared:

"The Arab nation refuses to see its resources and wealth being exploited and converted into assistance and weapons for Israel. The continuation of such exploitation should be considered an act of imperialism which must be liquidated by the Arab countries."

After the 1967 Arab-Israeli war, the Arabs decided to stop oil shipments to Britain, the United States and West Germany.

The Arabs soon realized they were suffering more than anyone else and the oil started flowing again.

If the Arab governments will not or cannot strike out at the American oil interests that produce most of their wealth, who was the call really aimed at?

The answer would seem to be the Palestine guerrillas who can operate as free agents because they are responsible for no one and to no government.

WOULD HURT HAVE-NOTS

But if they start sabotaging American oil installations, they are not only going to hurt the oil countries, they are going to hurt the three biggest have-nots of the Arab world—Egypt, Jordan and the guerrillas themselves.

From their oil wealth, Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya are contributing $228,000,000 a year to Egypt and $96,000,000 to Jordan. And at the Arab summit conference in Morocco in December the oil states agreed to give the guerrillas' Palestine Liberation Organization $19,000,000.

Saudi Arabia has warned its financial aid could not continue if its oil income was stopped, a warning prompted by three sabotage attacks by Arab guerrillas last year on the pipeline that carries Saudi oil to the Mediterranean. Like Saudi Arabia, Kuwait and Libya have no source of income but their oil, and Algeria and Iraq, the other Arab oil states, aren't giving their oil money to anybody.

Bennett Says Plan For Union 'Can Go Back To Whitehorse'

VICTORIA (CP)—Yukon Commissioner James Smith can take his map showing the proposed new economic union for the Canadian Northwest right back to Whitehorse, Premier Bennett said Wednesday.

The premier was commenting on a proposal made by Mr. Smith in a speech to a Chamber of Commerce meeting here earlier Wednesday which would place all of B.C. and Alberta north of the 55th parallel, which runs just above Prince George and Edmonton, into a union with the Yukon and a large chunk of the Northwest Territories.

Mr. Bennett said he had not met Mr. Smith and has no plans to do so. "British Columbia's position is very clear," he said. "We are prepared, for the sake of co-operative federalism and the people in the north, to extend our borders northwards if that is what the people want." He added:

"We are not pressing. I will never go up to the Yukon to make a speech in favor of our proposal. We won't urge the people. And we will never take our facilities, our Hydro and our (Pacific Great Eastern) railway outside of our own provincial borders."

The commissioner said planning should not be restricted by current boundaries "which are merely imaginary lines drawn by man."

He recommended creation of a Northwest development authority composed of representatives of the four jurisdictions and the federal government.

OLD WAR SONGS BEST IN CHINA

HONG KONG (Reuters) — China has urged its people to sing old revolutionary songs and make them sound like "war drums" as the country prepared to celebrate its spring festival with strong anti-Soviet overtones.

The official People's Daily said songs had helped strengthen the Chinese people during the 1937-45 war against Japan and had helped them rally around Mao Tse-tung.

Radio Moscow, in a Chinese-language broadcast, complained China is using the spring festival season to launch anti-Soviet propaganda. The radio said even seasonal scrolls and paintings used to decorate doors and walls of Chinese homes had an anti-Soviet tone.

WESTERN CANADA BOWLING TEAM OF KELOWNA

Members of the Kelowna and District Bowling Association's Western Canada Bowling representatives for 1970 are, from Chmilar, Vince Bertucci, Shirley Fowler, Denis Casey, and Bruce Bennett, Manager.

Kelowna's Bowling Team Ready For Prince George

Six men and six women will be representing Kelowna at the Western Canada Bowling trials in Prince George Saturday and Sunday, along with 20 other teams from throughout B.C.

The 12, along with a coach and manager, will be vying for a berth in the Western Canada Bowling Championships to be held in Vancouver March 27, 28 and 29.

The Kelowna squad, which was determined before Christmas in a 24 game roll-off, has placed on the B.C. team for the past eight years, and finished tenth last year in Port Arthur. Members of this year's team are:

Pidge Tahara — has been bowling for 24 years in the Kelowna area, and has coached the Western Canada team on three occasions, and has managed it once. Pidge has a league high average of 223 and has a high game total of 425.

Mits Koga — is the senior member of the bowling club, and has been on the Western Canada team 10 times. He has been bowling for the past 22 years, all in Kelowna, and holds a high average record for a season of 268. Mits has rolled two perfect games of 450, and has a high three game total of 1041, while placing in the top ten at the Western Canada's four times.

Mario Koga — brother of Mits, has been bowling for 24 years, and is making his eighth appearance at the Western Canada's. A highlight of this bowler's career came when he won a car at Vernon in 1963 in a bowling tournament. Mario has the highest average this year, 255, and has had one perfect game.

Carol Koga — has been bowling for the past 14 years, and will be making her eighth appearance, along with her husband, Mario, at the Western Canada's. Carol has a high league average of 234, and a high single of 433. She placed sixth in Calgary in 1966 and has won three 20 game marathons in Vernon, in 1964, 1965 and 1966.

Mary Favell — is in her 15th year bowling, and her second on the Western Canada team. She has an average of 210, and a high single of 385.

Shirley Fowler — has been bowling for just six years, and has been on the Western Canada team for five of those. Her league high average is 229, and her single is 380.

Doris Whittle — started bowling in Kamloops eight years ago, and has been on the team for six years. Her league high average is 231, with her high single being in 1968 when she bowled a 418.

Betty Casey — will make her second appearance at the Western Canada's after eight years of bowling. Her high average is 222, while she has had a high single of 365 and a high triple of 875.

Mitch Tahara — has 20 years of bowling behind him, and will be making his fourth appearance at the Western Canada Championships. He has a high single of 312 which he bowled in 1969, and a high average of 230.

Don Chmilar — is in his sixth year of bowling, and will be on the Western Canada team for the second year. Don averaged 270 at Port Arthur last year, and has a 241 average this year. His high single is 418, and last year won the high scratch in a Rutland tournament.

Dennis Casey — will be bowling for the second time on the Western Canada team, and has been bowling for seven years. He has a high average of 240, and a high single of 418.

Vince Bertucci — will be making his first appearance on the team, after just three years of trying. Vince's high average is 232, while having a high single of 440.

Dana Toews — started bowling in Dawson Creek three years ago and is making her first appearance on the Kelowna squad. Dana has had a high average of 227 and a high single of 435.

Bruce Bennett — has had seven years of bowling, and is on his fifth Western Canada team, his second as a manager. Bruce has a high single of 385, a high triple of 986, and a high average of 244.

Rogers Leheew that he was more interested in Canadian linemen.

Hamilton Tiger-Cats had the second choice in the opening round from a deal with Montreal Alouettes, last-place finishers in the Eastern Conference. Hamilton selected fullback Dave Fahnner of the University of Western Ontario.

PIKE RESIGNS
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Al Pike has resigned as head coach of the Phoenix Roadrunners of the Western Hockey League, it was announced today.

Roadrunners are in sixth place in the WHL with a 15-25-9 season record, 40 points behind leading Vancouver Canucks. "He has done as much as he possibly can; perhaps it's just a matter of different chemistry in order to get the club moving," said general manager Bob Whitlow.

"I've done everything humanly possible to help the club," Pike said. "At this stage, if there's to be improvement, it must come from within the players themselves."

Mikita Starting To Move But Orr Doing The Same

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

After a slow National Hockey League start, Stan Mikita is beginning to move.

The Chicago Black Hawks centre picked up six points on three goals and three assists Wednesday night as the Black Hawks overpowered Pittsburgh Penguins 7-1. A week ago, the former scoring champion collected five points in his team's 8-4 victory over Boston Bruins.

The six points Wednesday night gave Mikita a total of 63 this season, still a long way from scoring leader Bobby Orr of Boston, who has 84.

Orr picked up two assists Wednesday as the Bruins rallied to defeat the Blues 3-2 in St. Louis. In other games, East Division-leading New York Rangers downed Los Angeles Kings 6-3, Montreal Canadiens and Toronto Maple Leafs played to a 3-3 tie and Oakland Seals nipped Minnesota North Stars 2-1.

Mikita was not only the star in the game against Pittsburgh but also was prominent in the fight-filled encounter. He was involved in one of two major brawls during the game and drew a major and minor for battling with Bryan Watson.

Bobby Hull added two goals for the Hawks while brother Dennis and Pit Martin got one each. Dean Prentice scored for Pittsburgh.

The victory was Chicago's fifth in a row over the Penguins and moved the Black Hawks to within a point of Detroit Red Wings in the battle for the fourth eastern playoff spot.

BRUINS BELT BLUES

The Bruins continued their domination of West Division clubs by edging the Blues, who lost their fifth in a row. Boston has yet to lose to a western team in 27 meetings.

John McKenzie's power-play goal with less than two minutes remaining in the game gave Boston the edge. Orr, who set up the winning score, also assisted on a goal by Fred Stanfield.

Bill Speer got the other Boston goal, his first of the season. St. Louis had taken a 1-lead early in the second period when Bob Plager's attempted goal-mouth pass to Red Berenson was accidentally tipped in by Speer. Plager got credit for the goal.

The Rangers got their fifth straight victory against the Kings, bombarding goalie Gerry Desjardins with 45 shots, 19 in the third period. Rod Gilbert paced the Rangers with two goals while defencemen Brad Park and Arnie Brown, and Dave Balon and Bill Fairbairn got the others. Eddie Joyal and defenceman Bill White scored for Los Angeles.

Mike Walton scored two goals to lead the Leafs to their tie with the Canadiens at Montreal. Walton's second goal, his 17th of the season, came with Toronto goaltender Bruce Gamble on the bench in favor of a sixth attacker. His first goal was on a power play in the first period. Ron Ellis scored the other Toronto goal, with Gamble getting his first NHL assist.

Ralph Backstrom and Mickey Redmond scored the first two Montreal goals and before defencemen Serge Savard's goal at 7:40 of the third sent Montreal ahead 3-2 with Montreal playing a man short.

But when Gamble left the goal for the bench with 52 seconds remaining, Walton tied the score following a face-off in the Montreal zone.

Vernon Drops Rockets 8-5

VERNON (CP)—Vernon almost succumbed to a flurry of Kamloops Rockets goals before pushing ahead in the second period for an 8-5 British Columbia Junior Hockey League win Wednesday.

The largest Vernon crowd of the season—2,300 fans—watched Kamloops take a 4-3 lead going into the second period before Vernon regained control.

The Rockets' opening goal by Don Oulton was answered by Vernon's Lawrence Quechuk, but Rockets Oliver Steward and Don Senkpiel, who scored twice, boosted the lead. Vernon's Wayne Dye and Jack Marsh scored other first-period goals but Vernon trailed 4-3.

Dye scored again in the second, along with Gordon Merritt and Bob Craig, while Kamloops added one by Bernie Doan as control changed hands.

Craig and John Price boosted the lead with singles in the final period.

Portland Adds To Second Place

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Portland Buckaroos added handsily to their second - place Western Hockey League position Wednesday with an 8-6 win over fifth-place Denver Spurs.

The win put Portland up to 61 points, 17 behind league-leading Vancouver Canucks and eight ahead of San Diego Gulls, who took their game in Salt Lake City Wednesday 7-5.

In Portland, the Bucks snapped up every opportunity for a 5-1 lead in the first period. Denver rallied to trail 6-5 going into the third before Portland added two more goals to clinch the victory.

Verbal Rounds In Full Swing For Ellis-Frazier Managers

NEW YORK (CP) — Jimmy Ellis and Joe Frazier square off for the heavyweight boxing championship of the world at Madison Square Garden Monday night, but the verbal preliminaries have been in full swing for days.

It started when Angelo Dundee, manager of Ellis, blasted the Garden brass for not having the proper training facilities.

When Ellis tumbled through the loosely-strung ropes in the Garden's Felt Forum in his first workout since arriving here from Miami, Dundee was first scared and then furious.

"Nice ropes, thanks a lot," screamed Dundee. "Get these ropes straightened out or we're not going to work here tomorrow."

The ring is the same one that will be used for the fight.

Next it was the speedbag which annoyed him, saying it was too low and vibrated too much.

CLAIM POOR TREATMENT
Then Dundee was sounding off at Garden officials for what he said was their second-hand treatment of his fighter.

Dundee said they changed Ellis' scheduled training time and then gave him a hat-box dressing room.

"They act like Jimmy ain't going to be around after the fight, but they've got a surprise in store," said Dundee. "After Ellis gets done with Frazier it'll be a different story the next time around."

Next it was Frazier's manager, Yank Durham, who warned against the possible selection of Harold Valan as the referee for the title bout—just in case the New York State Athletic Commission might decide on Valan.

Durham was a television viewer when Ellis won a disputed 15-round decision over Floyd Patterson in his last fight 17 months ago in Sweden. Valan was the third man in the ring and Durham criticized him for the closeness of the decision.

"I didn't like the decision, I didn't like the way he handled the fight and I don't think he is a desirable referee," said Durham.

"He is the one man I object to. If Valan walks into the ring at the Garden, Frazier will walk right out."

CLAIM 76

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian Football League teams Wednesday claimed 76 of 243 eligible players in the 1970 draft of Canadian colleges and universities.

The nine professional teams showed most interest in Waterloo Lutheran University, nine players, and Simon Fraser University, seven players.

Leading the list of draftees in the 10 rounds was Simon Fraser quarterback Wayne Holm, chosen by Calgary Stampeders, who had obtained the first pick from Winnipeg Blue Bombers, 1969 last-place finishers in the Western Conference, in a previous deal.

The Stampeders selected Holm first despite a Tuesday statement by general manager

Kel-Bucks Win Season's Last

Although the Kelowna Kel-Bucks were knocked out of a playoff spot in the Okanagan-Mainline Junior B Hockey League by the Penticton Broncos last week, they had little trouble disposing of the southern team Wednesday in Kelowna.

Wayne Stewart, brought up from the midget ranks, led the Kel-Bucks to their 5-1 victory over the Combines, firing two goals, while Dave Angus, Terry Low, and Gerry Fiest got singles. Gerry Sismey got the only Penticton goal.

Wednesday's encounter was the Kel-Bucks' last game of the season, while the Combines meet either the Merritt Cougars or the Vernon Legionnaires in the playoffs next week.

Braddock Sees Jimmy Ellis As A Better Bet Than 5 To 1

This is the second of a series of articles by James J. Braddock, former world heavyweight champion, analyzing the Joe Frazier-Jimmy Ellis fight for the undisputed heavyweight crown in Madison Square Garden on Monday, February 16th.

By JAMES J. BRADDOCK
Jimmy Ellis will be 30 Feb. 24. I was 30 years old when I beat Max Baer for the heavyweight title. The age of 30 is a good age for heavyweights. I was at least a 10-to-1 underdog against Baer. Nobody believed anybody could beat the handsome strong man from California, least of all a makeshift fighter off the Hoboken docks like me.

Ellis is a 5-to-1 shot against Joe Frazier, a strong man from Philadelphia. That's a lot of odds. There's no such thing as a long shot in boxing when two top professional fighters get into a ring. As I see it, and I'm not picking anybody just yet, Frazier should be maybe a seven or eight to five over Ellis and that mainly on the fact that he's been more active.

We've taken a look at Frazier already. We know that he's a guy who likes to pour it on and wear his opposition down. He's done a fairly good job of it in most of his fights because he's not been beaten yet. What about Jimmy Ellis?

Some people say that Ellis fights a lot like Cassius Clay. You can't spar hundreds of rounds with a guy without some of the moves rubbing off. Ellis makes what may look like Clay moves but Ellis is a lot more than that. He has a style completely his own and every time I've seen him he impresses me as a real smart fighter who can change styles to fit the other guy.

He looks like Clay, with his shifty footwork and the speed of his hands. And he looks like Gene Tunney in the way he boxes. He has a little of Ezzard Charles and maybe some of Jersey Joe Walcott, too. Put them all together and you have Jimmy Ellis. He has a little bit of everything.

I have been around a long time and have watched a lot of fighters but I have never seen as sneaky a right hand as Ellis'. It is a punch he throws when he's ready and he has been able to time it almost perfectly because it does the job. That's how he got into the heavyweight title picture. They fed Ellis to Johnny Persol in a Garden semi-final one night and Ellis landed the right in the first and it was all over. Ellis knocked down Oscar Bonavena twice, with that right hand, something Frazier couldn't do even once in 25 rounds with Bonavena.

Ellis is an always-moving target. It's tough to land solidly on him and he has a good enough left jab and hook to keep the other guy off balance. Ellis has beaten tough guys like Leotis Martin on the way up from the middleweights. He has never been beaten as a heavyweight. Those are pretty good credentials. Five-to-one, my foot. I wish I was a betting man.

The question with Ellis, of course, is not having had a fight in more than a year. How important is it? That depends a lot on the fighter. I would have to say in Jimmy's case that it won't hurt him because he hasn't fought too often anyway and he's always in condition. This is a tough fight for both fighters. There are no easy fights.

In his third and last article, Braddock will pit man against man and pick the winner.

Keys Has His Own Alumni For Upcoming CFL Season

TORONTO (CP) — "Eagle Keys should win the Coach-of-the-Year award for years to come—he's got his own alumni organization."

Dennie Veitch, general manager of British Columbia Lions, made the observation while reviewing the changes in coaching and front-office personnel which have swept the Canadian Football League.

The Coach-of-the-Year award is decided by a vote of CFL coaches.

"Look at Jack Gotta in Ottawa, Jim Spavital of Winnipeg, and Jim Duncan in Calgary," Veitch said. "They all coached under the Eagle."

Keys, of Saskatchewan Roughriders, is one of the few veteran head coaches left in the league.

"And if those three votes aren't enough to swing it," Veitch said, "Keys is a close friend of Jackie Parker." Parker is in his first full season as a head coach—with B.C.

Three of the five Western Football Conference clubs have had coaching changes since last year; a fourth has a coach going into his second season.

EAST CLUBS CHANGE
In the East, two of the four clubs have new head coaches.

Montreal Alouettes have former star quarterback Sam Etcheberry as head coach. They have a new owner in Sam Berger, a new general manager in Red O'Quinn and a new assistant coach in Bob Ward.

Etcheberry has been out of football for years; Berger bought the club from Joe Atwell and brought in O'Quinn and Ward from Ottawa.

Ottawa Rough Riders moved head coach Frank Clair up to take over from O'Quinn and assistant Jack Gotta to take over from Clair.

Jim Spavital, former assistant coach with Saskatchewan Roughriders, succeeded fired Joe Zaleski as the new head coach with Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Ray Jauch, former assistant coach with Edmonton Eskimos, moved into the head-coach job

Smokies Still Full Of Fight

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Well out of the playoff picture but still full of fight, Trail Smoke Eaters whipped Nelson Maple Leafs 5-2 Wednesday night in a Western International Hockey League contest before 950 fans.

Inspired by the clutch goaltending of Lloyd Vaughan, the Smoke Eaters clicked on three power-play goals for their margin of victory over the second-place Nelson Maple Leafs.

It was Vaughan's final game with the Trail club. He was to leave today to join Brandon Wheat Kings of the Western Canada Hockey League.

Keys hired Dave Skrien, former B.C. head coach and later assistant at Edmonton, to replace the departed Spavital.

Going the other way was Joe Scannella, offensive co-ordinator of the Alouettes, who became head coach at the University of Vermont.

George Brancato, a former defensive back with Ottawa, rejoined the club as a defensive coach.

Charles William Hildebrand, a former assistant with the Lions, joined Winnipeg as an assistant.

GAINES SHIFTS

Gene Gaines, defensive captain with Ottawa, moved over to Montreal as an assistant and a player.

"A philosophy exists within the CFL—and I'm quite proud of it—that you look first within your own club and second within your own league," Veitch said.

But sentiment plays only a small part.

"You look for people who have had experience in Canadian football. Canadian football is a different game from all other games. You really have to coach in the Canadian game."

Veitch, here for the CFL annual meeting, said "you'll find a guy with Canadian experience somewhere in every successful NFL franchise," and pointed to Minnesota Vikings as an example, with Armstrong of Edmonton as an assistant to head coach Bud Grant, formerly of Winnipeg.

By hiring within the league, a team saves at least that year an import coach spends "earning the game," Veitch says.

"We could have had our choice of coaches from the U.S., but football in Canada is an immediate business. 'You win right now, you get paid right now.'"

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
AXYDLBAAXR
is LONG FELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Why Do Some Get Fat On Identical Diet?

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: Why do people who eat the same foods in the same amounts have different results, weight-wise? I refer to the familiar pattern of one person gaining slowly while another remains the same weight?

Is the rate of metabolism the key? Will thyroid pills prescribed by a physician change the rate of metabolism, or have no effect?—Mrs. G. G.

Metabolism is only one "key" to the question. It is true that, on exactly the same food intake, one person may gain while another doesn't. A study at the University of Wisconsin pointed out that more than 80 variants have effects on obesity, so you can see why metabolism is "a key," not "the key."

If the thyroid gland does not function up to par, the body's metabolism slows down. The patient becomes somewhat lethargic, and food turns into fat instead of being used for energy.

Medication to bring thyroid function up to normal can help such a person. That does not mean, however, that a person with a normal thyroid gland can lose weight by taking thyroid medication. The dose would have to be of such size as to be toxic.

There can be other and more technical differences in the rate at which different people absorb food, chiefly sugars and fats.

But one of the biggest differences involves the rate at which people expend their energy. Dr. Jean Mayer, of Harvard, made an enlightening study of college girls. It showed that the lean ones moved around much more energetically in such pursuits as tennis, swimming, and games than the stout ones did.

This same factor applies to such everyday activities as housework, walking, going up and down stairs. The stout person often sleeps more, lies in bed longer, prefers to sit. The lean person often spends more time up and doing things.

This difference alone cannot help making a difference in one's weight—on exactly the same amount of food.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 15 and bruise so easily that it seems I can't even cross my legs without getting a big blue splotch. I've been taking vitamin pills every day, thinking I might have a vitamin deficiency, but they don't seem to work.—E. S.

Vitamins C deficiency (not getting enough citrus fruits and vegetables) is one possibility. Or lack of calcium (from plenty of milk and dairy products).

Chinese Enter Year Of Dog

HONG KONG (Reuters) — China entered the lunar new year of the dog Friday amid exhortations to resist possible Soviet attack to cut down spending and to curb the population explosion.

For years now, Peking has urged the people to "revolutionize" the spring festival—once a season for lavish weddings and merrymaking.

Official papers warn against "the wayward wind of waste and extravagance."

Food stockpiling and other defence preparations for a possible border war with the Russians have made this year's festival even more austere than usual.

Radio Moscow, in a Chinese-language broadcast, complained that Peking is using the festive season to launch propaganda attacks on Russia.

Despite appeals for austerity, markets in Shanghai, China's biggest city with a population of 10,000,000, are overflowing with turnips, chickens, fresh and salt pork, apples, winter coats and shoes for the spring festival.

Diplomatic reports from Peking say the government's austerity policy is meeting with some opposition in some provinces, where tradition-minded Chinese want to celebrate the spring festival, as they have done in the past.

Opening lead — seven of hearts.

A reader wants to know what went wrong with the bidding in this hand. She was South and opened with a club, which everyone passed.

West led a heart and she won East's king with the ace. After drawing trumps, South cashed the ace of spades, telling East's king.

A spade to the nine permitted her to lead the ten of hearts and finesse when East followed low. Another heart lead trapped the jack, and she later took a second spade finesse that succeeded.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Some misleading influences suggest that you be extremely alert in business discussions and negotiations now. Don't take stock in rosy promises and do not enter into any new venture unless it has exceptionally substantial backing. Neither sign anything without reading the "fine print."

FOR THE BIRTHDAY
If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope promises a highly gratifying year. Where your occupational affairs are concerned, your planetary influences, since early January, have been unusually generous and, if you have taken advantage of all opportunities since then to advance your status, you should see fine results for your efforts by the end of April. Do not let down in endeavor then, however, since stars promise an even more progressive cycle which will last for four months, beginning on September 1.

On the fiscal score, there will be two periods during 1970 when you should find many opportunities for increasing assets: The first, a long one, will last from May 1 through Aug. 15 and the second, shorter but extremely beneficial, will encompass the entire month of October. Just one admonition, however, Do avoid speculation during the first two weeks of September and throughout the months of November and December.

Planetary influences are also generous where your private life is concerned, with new romance and or marriage indicated either between May 1 and Aug. 31 or between Nov. 15 and Dec. 31. Sexual activities, incidentally, should prove to be unusually stimulating during these same two periods. Except for short trips, you may not travel much during the early part of this year, but if you've been hankering to take off on a long trip, the months of November and December will be most propitious.

A child born on this day will be extremely versatile; could succeed in either the business or art world. On the personal side, will be endowed with a magnetic personality.

MUSEUM NOTES

Young Interest Most Rewarding

By URSULA SURTEES

One of the most rewarding parts of museum work is, when from time to time, a spark of curiosity is generated in a young mind. One of the kits we take to the elementary schools is the one we refer to as the pre-history kit. This consists of rock formations, petrified wood, and fossils—many of them of a local nature.

You might ask, "Who wants to see a bunch of old rocks and bones?" Well, the youngsters do. It is one of our most popular kits. After we have told the students where the fossils were found, what they are, and the approximate age, the specimens are passed around the class so that all may have a really close look. Then comes the question period and the questions are good. How are fossils formed? Why are they sometimes found in such odd places? How thick was the ice which covered the Valley? How do people know so much about dinosaurs? And so on.

GIANT FLOWER

Fortunately, we have in the museum, a good assortment of local finds. A quite unusual one is the imprint of a flower of the Giant Morning Glory family. This was found some years ago in Gallagher's Canyon. The fact that this species now grows only in tropical Malaya, shows that the climate of the Valley has varied with the centuries.

Trilobites from Field, B.C., date back millions of years, but in the rock they have left a photographic record for all to see. One leaf imprint dug up on Abbott Street, shows little round holes chewed in it by some pre-historic bug.

The discovery in 1919 of several large bones (by a prospector digging for gold in Mission Creek) was most interesting. They were buried 12 feet below the surface. They were carefully removed and sent away for identification. They turned out to be the bones of an ancient Bison. Before the discovery of these bones it was not known that the Bison ever ranged this far, so this discovery added significantly to scientific knowledge. Recently these same bones have been re-assessed as to their age. Previously they were believed to be between 8,000 and 10,000 years, the estimate of the last glacial retreat in this area. Now it is thought they may be much older, perhaps 15,000 years which would open up all kinds of speculation as to life here during inter-glacial periods.

This kind of information makes youngsters aware of what has happened right here, not in Siberia or South Africa, but in their own backyard. The thought that they too, might stumble on some ancient mystery item, is an exciting one.

Recently we visited a class with this kit and on the following Saturday, three of the youngsters of that class came to visit us at the museum. They had also been to the library, and we were interested to see their choice of books, two had books on Dinosaurs, another a book entitled "Geology" by Evans.

Another group of Grade 6 students brought in a collection of rocks and fossils gathered as a class project. These are now on display in the children's case in the museum.

Rutland United Church Club Hears Talk On Drug Problems

RUTLAND — Members of the Rutland United Church AOTS club heard an interesting talk recently by Lorne Snook, local pharmacist, on drugs.

He explained various types of drugs used in legitimate ways by doctor's prescription, for alleviation of pains and to cure ailments.

He also detailed drugs misused by drug addicts and persons looking for "kicks" — not medication.

This has become a serious problem but is not new, for in ancient times the Orient and the Middle East were centers of drug addiction for centuries.

In connection with LSD and marijuana he felt there was some injustice in the law, the former a far more powerful and dangerous drug, involving only a civil action in a possession charge.

Marijuana cases can come under the criminal code, involving heavier penalties and a permanently recorded charge against the individual.

A lively question, answer and discussion period followed and ideas on how to deal with the problem were voiced. There was general agreement some steps should be taken to combat the problem among young people by an education campaign in the schools.

At a short business meeting tentative plans were discussed regarding a proposed congregational one-day fund-raising project, to obtain money for church repairs.

This would include an auction sale, supper and contests. A committee of three, Hubert Nichols, Elwyn Cross and Rev. E. S. Fleming with Rev. Frank Lewis, to go into the details and report to a later meeting.

Arrangements were made to have the March meeting of the AOTS a Father and Son banquet. The treasurer, Brian Burnell, reporting on finances indicated $96 remained after paying for the new chairs.
